

Don't stop me now

Co-Founder and Chief Operating Officer for Longevity Supplement Company
(by Maximon, the Longevity Company Builder in Switzerland)

Maximon is a longevity company builder based in Switzerland. For our Longevity Supplement Company, we are building a team of entrepreneurs with the vision to become the leading player in the evidence-based longevity supplement industry and the aim to provide healthy aging and rejuvenation solutions.

Maximon supports entrepreneurs with substantial funding and a strong, global network of investors, experts and scientists. As an industry-specific company builder, Maximon enables founders to focus on executing business ideas by also giving them access to top talent, integrated services, best-practice processes and industry expertise.

As our Chief Operating Officer (COO) you are responsible for:

- Assuming end-to-end responsibility for the entire supply chain
- Developing our supplement sourcing and production capabilities
- Ensuring the implementation of efficient processes and a digital infrastructure that allows fast growth
- Executing with excellence and driving our day-to-day operations
- Being in charge of building, leading and managing the team
- Working closely together with the Chief Commercial Officer and Chief Product Officer of our Supplement Company
- Re-shaping the future of the office life and "new work"

Your qualifications:

- Entrepreneurial minded professional with at least 5 years of relevant experience in project management
- Practical experience in the pharmaceutical or food supplement industry is a plus
- Track record of successfully structuring and negotiating commercial agreements
- Top performer of your peer group, whether at university or on the job
- Entrepreneurial mindset: You are flexible and have the ultimate drive to succeed
- Result-oriented working style and strong analytical and conceptual skills
- Excellent leadership skills with experience collaborating with cross-functional teams
- Passion for longevity and being part of a company with the aim to increase health and life spans

With us as a strong partner by your side:

As our COO and Co-Founder, you are building Maximon's Supplement Company together with us from day one. You profit from working with successful and well-known serial entrepreneurs who have co-founded over 20 companies, accompanied 3 IPOs and have raised more than EUR 2bn. On top of that you will cooperate with the brightest (researcher) minds within longevity, who will also serve as board and team members within our ecosystem. As a co-founder, you will receive a very attractive equity package.

Work from Switzerland or anywhere:

Maximon embraces new ways of working and hires the best talent from anywhere (Switzerland, EU, UK) to work remotely. We ensure that teams meet physically from time to time and ensure teamwork, collaboration and team building with latest technologies and frequent off-sites. If you prefer living and working in Switzerland: we make sure you have a desk at our campus in Zug, Switzerland.

We are looking forward to getting to know you!
